ELWOOD, Ind., Aug. 17.—A tidal wave of humanity engulfed Elwood today.

The first streaks of daylight found the city already rousing from a sleepless night, brought the clatter and roar of a half a hundred special trains and saw the highways in every direction black with automobiles.

Elwood's Big Day

Because of a cherished American tradition, an inheritance of the country's pioneer past, this normally peaceful community of 10,000 residents and the rolling countryside beyond became the meeting place of thousands; the focal point of the eyes and ears of the world.

Not only the mammoth throng assembled here, but millions throughout the United States and many in foreign lands were interested in "today in Elwood."

They were interested because of an old Yankee custom of notification ceremonies for a presidential nominee—a practice that originated when transportation was slow and hazardous and communication not so rapid.

Wendell L. Willkie has known for weeks that he was the Republican standard-bearer for 1940, but tradition must be served.

So the former Elwood boy came home today to be formally apprised of his nomination and make an acceptance speech of some 5,000 words. That address contained an outline of the nominee's political philosophy; it told how Willkie stands on the pressing questions of the hour.

The speech was the opening blast in Willkie's campaign. It was of deep significance to American voters. It was of only slightly less importance in foreign capitals.

A 35-minute speech provided the occasion; Elwood supplied the setting and staged the show.

The flood of visitors was expected to reach the staggering total of 250,000. It began yesterday, mounted hour by hour during the night and hit its peak today. So dense was the swarm of cars that motorists pro-

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Claim was recently made that a lot of the residents of West Virginia were not enumerated in the recent census because they lived too far away from centers of population, and up in the hills. But West Virginia has nothing on Lawrence County. Farmers residing between East Brook and Neshannock Falls assert that no census enumerator has yet appeared in that district to county the populace. A number of them sent away for sample forms so that they would be familiar with the questions to be asked, and have had this information available, but it has never been called for, they assert.

Davis Predicts Willkie Will Win

Lauds Republican Candidate's Life Long Battle Against Injustice

(International News Service)

ELWOOD, Ind., Aug. 17—U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, today welcomed Wendell Willkie, GOP presidential candidate to Elwood with the prediction that the nominee's "election" in November would uphold the anti-third term tradition of the United States.

Senator Davis spoke on the steps of the Elwood High school, which both he and Willkie attended, and greeted the party's 1940 standard bearer to ceremonies in which the latter was notified officially of his nomination in Philadelphia last June.

"Wendell Willkie's election to the presidency next November will be a repudiation of the vain ambitions of those who seek to undermine the political precepts and traditions which have made our country the greatest nation on earth," Pennsylvania senior senator said.

"It will be a firm endorsement of the vision of the founding fathers who, by word and deed, firmly established the very obvious fact that no government official is indispensable and that no man should ever serve more than two terms as president of this great republic.

"His victory will be a tribute to the wisdom and common sense of

Duke And Wally Arrive At Nassau

Reception At Dock Planned Followed By Induction Into Office

(International News Service)

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 17.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived in Nassau from Bermuda at dawn today, while flag-bedecked private craft swarmed around the shadowy gray steamer which brought them from Bermuda.

Windsor, recently appointed governor of the islands, did not appear immediately with his American-born duchess, but was expected to appear shortly before 9 a. m., when an elaborate reception was scheduled.

An honor guard waited tensely for the hour of reception at the dock, which will be attended only by high officials and the press. But large crowds surrounded the docks, eager to catch a glimpse of the couple.

Ceremony inducting the duke as governor will be held shortly after the reception.

Greek Sailors Refuse To Work

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—The scheduled sailing of the Greek liner Nea Hellas for Lisbon was delayed today as members of the crew balked over putting to sea with 368 French deportees.

One hundred of the 225 members of the crew went on strike on the grounds that the deportees, officers and seamen who are being sent to their homes from Canada and the United States, would make the liner liable to attack by Italian submarines.

Legion Rejects Censure Measure

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Aug. 17.—Delegates to the 22nd annual state convention of the American Legion today thunderously rejected a resolution denouncing Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins and Sidney Hillman, recently appointed by President Roosevelt to head employment affairs of the national defense commission.

The defeated resolution condemned Hopkins and Hillman, chief of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, "because of their previous radical record". Reading of the measure was greeted with boos and catcalls that made the very rafters of the convention auditorium ring.

Amid the deafening roar, Samuel Sacks, a delegate from the fourth district, leaped to his feet and shouted to Commander Edward R. Stirling:

Naval Base Deal Meets With Favor

Congressmen Suggest Cancellation Of British War Debt As Fair Price

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—Key congressmen were ready today to approve any "reasonable" deal that President Roosevelt might make with Great Britain and Canada for their western hemisphere territories for use as United States defense bases.

This was apparent from an international News Service poll of leaders in both houses of congress following the president's statement he was carrying on negotiations with London and Ottawa in an attempt to bulwark the western hemisphere's ramparts against aggression.

Only senators of the "isolationist bloc" objected, holding such a transaction would further "entangle" this country in Europe's politics.

"Several members of congress suggested that concellation of Great Britain's $4,600,000,000 debt to the United States, contracted during the first World War would be a fair price for British possessions in western hemisphere.

Both the White House and the state department, meanwhile, maintained silence as to the price America proposes to pay for naval and air rights on strategic points, such as the Bahamas, Barbados, British Honduras and sites along the Canadian coast.

Greece Is Given New Warning By Benito Mussolini

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 17—Premier Mussolini today warned Greece against being pushed into futile resistance by Great Britain and announced through the press that Italy would force a showdown within the next few days.

Popolo D'Italia, Il Duce's own newspaper said:

"Rome proposes within the next few days fully to clarify the Greek attitude and find out whether Athens intends to recognize the rights of Albania and Italy or submit to the consequences of a policy of complicity."

Charging that Britain was responsible for the present attitude of Greece, Popolo asked:

"Is it in Greece's interests to repeat the experience of Czecho-Slovaks, Poland, Norway, Denmark, Belgium and France?"

Delayed Bombs Drive Citizens Back To Shelter

British Claim 71 German Raiders Knocked Down In Bitter Air Fighting

GUARDS PATROL BOMBED AREAS

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Residents of a southwestern London suburb dashed to air raid shelters today as loud explosions—the result of delayed action bombs—rent the air.

Inhabitants of the region, one of the greater London districts raided yesterday by German planes, sought safety in the belief that the enemy planes had returned.

Delayed Fuses

Authorities said, however, that the blasts were the result of delayed action missiles dropped by the Nazi raiders many hours previously.

Still more delayed action bombs exploded in a southwest London suburb at noon, damaging a number of houses.

In the meantime, German raiders carried out new attacks on various sections of Britain during the night and this morning. But British authorities termed the mass air bombardment of the greater London region a costly failure.

The first delayed-action bomb to burst exploded early in the morning in the rear garden of a house.

A second bomb exploded near some houses demolished in yesterday's raid an hour later.

A rescue worker and 10 other persons had been standing around the

May Compromise Conscript Bill

Conscription Foes Will Agree To Bill If Time Of Conscription Is Made January

By ROBERT A. McGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Leaders of a strong bipartisan congressional bloc were prepared today to withdraw objections to the peace time military conscription bill if the administration grants certain concessions.

The bloc asked that the administration withhold the draft until next year and limit the program to requirements of the regular army and supplemental defense units

The compromise proposal was presented to Sen. Maloney (D) Conn. sponsor of a substitute bill which would postpone conscription until the next congress, and which is the main "stumbling block" to passage of the measure which would make 12,000,000 men between the ages of 21 and 31 eligible for a year of military training.

A senate isolationist informed Maloney that if he will agree to

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Following revelations that he had resigned as under secretary of commerce in order to aid in the Republican presidential campaign, Edward J. Noble today voiced support of Wendell L. Willkie.

Noble, who resigned his commerce post last Wednesday, asserted that he felt a change in administrations was necessary for unification of the country and acceleration of defense measures.

Heavier Attacks Are Threatened

German High Command Again Promises More Intensive Attacks Upon Britain

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Nazi Germany today warned of new and more intensive attacks on British towns and cities as the high command claimed sweeping successes in yesterday's onslaught against the environs of London.

Replying to a question as to whether Germany considers London an open city, a government spokesman said:

"What the German air force has done so far amounts only to mosquito bites when compared with what may be expected.

No Obligation

"Since the British have attacked and dropped bombs on non-military objectives and open cities throughout Germany, this country is under no obligation to respect open cities in England."

In yesterday's raids, military objectives in the vicinity of greater London and elsewhere were destroyed and the royal air force defenses "crushed," an official communique said.

"Smaller units of the German air force continued the battle against the British Isles yesterday and last night, effectively bombing airports, anti-aircraft positions and balloon barrages in southeast England and the vicinity of greater London, armament factories in middle England and docks and piers at Cardiff, Newport and Bristol.

"One British destroyer was sunk off the Isle of Wight.

The applicants themselves denied they were trying to get to the altar before the draft and said love alone prompted their actions. At any rate, the bureau was issuing applications at the record pace of one every two minutes.

Nazis Threaten Neutral Ships Around Britain

Warning Similar To That Of Von Tirpitz Prolamation In World War

CHARGES BRITAIN WITH VIOLATIONS

Germans Announce They Have Mined Zones Surrounding British Isles

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Nazi Germany today proclaimed a total blockade of the waters surrounding the British Isles, threatening to sink on sight ships of any nations attempting to maintain commerce with Britain.

Formal notes have been sent to all neutral nations, it was announced, warning them to keep their shipping out of the British war zone or risk destruction of their vessels.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The warning was tantamount to admission that in the waters surrounding Britain, Germany was prepared to embark upon unrestricted submarine warfare as proclaimed by Admiral Von Tirpitz in the last war.)

Charges Violations

The statement charged that England "has increasingly violated the international rules of naval warfare, first by declaring foodstuffs contraband, thus aiming to starve women and children."

Secondly, Britain listed all goods of German origin as contraband, even though they were in neutral possession aboard neutral ships.

Thirdly, British merchant steamers have been armed, allegedly in violation of international law, "for the purpose of employing them in attacks against German U-boats."

It was officially announced that the German air force has extensively mined zones around the British Isles. St. George's channel, the north channel and the Irish Sea are now danger zones, it was said.

Three large steamers collided with German mines off the Isle of Man today, the announcement said. Two sank and the other is listing heavily.

Says Nazi Damage To London Slight

German Reports Overexaggerated

H. R. Knickerbocker Describes Nazi Accounts As "Insanely Untrue"

BRITISH MORALE LIFTED HIGHER

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The "smoking ruins" of London exist only in the imagination of the German official news agency and today—the third week end in August and one of the last desirable dates for an invasion—the British people went about their holiday with more than their usual good nature.

They have good reason, because the German accounts of the current air raids as reproduced in London in today's afternoon newspapers are so incredibly fantastic that they are very funny.

Throughout the city the most popular pastime today was for one person to read aloud to a group the German agency's account of panic reigning in the city, with tens of thousands fleeing and screaming.

Literally the only screaming being done in London is screams of laughter at these insanely untrue stories.

There was not only no panic but people everywhere disobeyed the rules during yesterday's raids on the London region in a vain attempt to see the German planes.

Censorship Hurts

The fact is that British censorship harmed the British cause far more yesterday than did the German raiders because by preventing American news agencies and newspapers from sending accurate reports promptly, it forced the United States to accept the German version, and this had calamitous if only temporary results.

Hundreds of Americans in London received cables anxiously inquiring whether they were still alive and uninjured among Dr. Joseph Goebbels' "smoking ruins."

Let it be taken as the personal testimony of this correspondent that the damage done to material in all German air raids on the metropolis has been so small as to play no role whatever in whatever plans Chancellor Hitler may have for his prospective conquest, while the effect upon British morale actually has been to lift it even higher than it was.

This is because experience in the last eight days of raids has convinced the British of what they formerly believed but were not quite sure of, namely, that the R.A.F. can permanently beat off the German luftwaffe.

Incidentally, for the guidance of American readers, let it be recorded that most American newspapermen and neutral professional observers believe the British air ministry's figures are as nearly as humanly possible correct and they now show the R.A.F. knocking down the enemy at a ratio of four to one, the total of the last eight days being 539 German planes down to 130 R.A.F. machines, with 39 R.A.F. pilots from these planes safe.

The British attitude could not better be illustrated than by the fact that today, when by all signs and portents there may be bigger and better blows at Britain, the people went off on their week ends exactly as usual.

Only exceptions were munitions workers who are working the clock 'round, those directly concerned with the war effort and the armed force, who today maintained more than customary alertness.

LEGION REJECTS CENSURE MEASURE

Roosevelt. They can no longer be radicals if they get public jobs like this."

While the delegates hurried to complete the convention's business affairs, including election of a new department commander and action on 53 resolutions, intermittent heavy rain and drizzles fell as final preparations were made for the big annual parade.

Rain or shine, the parade, with an estimated 30,000 marchers in line, was to go on at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Dr. Leon Bronstein of Scranton, chairman of the resolutions committee, began the reading of proposed resolutions shortly after this morning's session got underway. One of the most important up for action was a measure favoring immediate passage of the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill.

Two Candidates

Nominated at the closing business session yesterday, the department commander aspirants were Tom E. Williams of Wilkes-Barre, director of the state bureau of vital statistics in Harrisburg, and Charles S. Cook of Pittston, Pennsylvania motor police lieutenant stationed at the Wyoming barracks.

The expected legion endorsement of the compulsory military training bill was delayed until Monday along with action on the other resolutions after the convention had a long and lunchless session during which they heard an address by Gov. Arthur H. James.

The governor warned a cheering audience against complacency in national defense preparations, adding:

"It is the duty of every American citizen to see that America remains safe for Americans. Let us not live in a fool's paradise. America will be destroyed only in that day when the American people do not sense the fact that we have here a possession and a privilege which is founded on the realities of life."

BRITAIN READY FOR ANY ATTACK

have become expert from training as guerilla fighters while keeping a 24-hour vigil these grim days.

This citizen army, plus the regulars, honeycombs the entire island as well as the coastal area in well-prepared defenses which are growing stronger hourly.

What the royal air force is doing daily to Grand Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's luftwaffe, Britain's ground army is quietly confident it will do in ever larger measure if Hitler is rash enough to attempt a seaborne invasion.

Lieutenant General Sir Robert Gordon-Finlayson, commander-in-chief of one coastal command defending hundreds of miles of coastline told me today:

"Invasion of England is a far different problem than the land invasion of France.

"I believe we have the answer to the devilish tank. It is not an unconquerable monster if stood up to, nor are parachutists invincible.

"There will be no swift retirement to protected flanks on this island as there was in France. We stand where we are. Destruction and defeat await the invader."

May Be Blunder

After witnessing visible evidence of the reception that is planned, I am convinced that any German attempt may prove a costly blunder. It may even prove the means of wiping out all Hitler's amazing continental successes.

American arms are pouring in as a vital aid. At one airdrome I saw a Douglas dive-bomber in action, while crates filled with many others stood in long lines awaiting rapid assembly. Hundreds of pieces of field artillery have arrived to bolster replacement of equipment lost in Flanders. Picked British soldiers are equipped with American tommy-guns for use against parachutists and the crews of tanks.

Formidable defenses have been erected on every beach and possible landing place around the islands. I saw massive concrete pyramidal "dragons' teeth" which have been tested and found strong enough to halt Britain's own heaviest tanks.

Huge stakes driven into sandy beaches and fields, and the rear barbed-wire entanglements, heavy reinforced pillboxes armed with machine-gun and anti-tank guns while small and medium calibre artillery directly command all beaches and approaches at point-plank range.

Behind these formidable beach defenses are heavy guns, carefully concealed, and other pillboxes and huge tank trap ditches to provide a defense depth of several miles.

Flying squadrons watch out constantly for attempted landings along the coast or by parachutists inland.

British Claim Bombing Successes In Somaliland—Italians Claim British Retreat

CAIRO, Aug. 17.—Damaging British air raids on Italian troops and military objectives in British Somaliland and other African fighting zones were announced by a Royal air force communique today.

"The R. A. F. again raided Tobruk Harbor," the communique said.

"Direct hits were registered on a naval oil tank, submarine, naval jetties, where fires were burning many hours later.

"Our aircraft continued to harrass enemy troop movements. Our bombers attacked Zeild and the nearby Island of Adadleh, concentrating on military tarkets and troop concentrations. Repeated reconnoissances were made over the main roads of Somaliland.

"Italian bombers attempted to raid Berbera but were intercepted by aircraft operated by a French crew who succeeded in shooting down one Italian plane and driving off the others."

Rome, Aug. 17—British troops in British Somaliland are in retreat all along the line, the Italian military bulletin announced today adding that Italian planes had carried out a heavy raid on the port of Alexandria.

"Yesterday, the full, bloody battle for the conquest of British Somaliland reached its culminating point and the enemy is retreating along the entire front" the communique said.

"We violently bombed for more than an hour the port equipment and warships anchored at the port of Alexandria. One machine failed to return from this action, while another did not return from a reconnaissance flight over the Red sea.

second bomb, without being aware it was "alive," only three minutes before it exploded.

Guard Area

Air raid precaution workers were busy in the raided area throughout the night with demolition work and guard duty, keeping passers-by away from areas where unexploded bombs are known to have fallen.

Crowds walked through the streets examining the wreckage. Almost every road in the central area of the attacked suburban district showed signs of damage, with glass and debris littering the streets for hundreds of yards from the points where the bombs struck.

By early morning local authorities succeeded in finding housing facilities for all persons rendered homeless by the raids.

Squads of air raid precaution workers rapidly cleared away the debris and labored to make damaged structures safe for occupancy.

This afternoon an official British announcement said:

Bomb South Wales

"Enemy air activity over this country last night was not on a heavy scale. Bombs were dropped on South Wales, where some damage was caused to property and a few casualties were caused.

"Bombs also were dropped on southeastern and southwestern England. A few persons were injured when some houses were damaged at a town in southwest England. Otherwise very little damage was caused.

"An enemy bomber was shot down by anti-aircraft guns into the channel during the early hours of the morning."

The air ministry announceo that at least 71 German raiders were knocked down, while only 18 British combat planes were admitted lost in the tremendous sky clashes yesterday, involving an estimated 2,000 planes or more.

During the night one enemy plane dropped nine bombs on a residential district in a southwestern English coastal town, damaging a number of houses but causing no casualties, authorities said.

Earlier a number of bombs were dropped on various points in Wales.

Nearly 1,000 police officers, including a detachment of Indiana state police and squads from nine mid-western cities, sought to control the traffic. They were aided by two patrol planes which flew back and forth overhead and communicated with the ground force by radio.

Only "official" cars, including newsmen, radio representatives and political leaders, were permitted to enter the city. Others were directed around the outskirts to Callaway Park, scene of the notification ceremonies at 3 p. m. (CST). For the early birds 30,000 seats were available, facing the huge speakers' stand on which the nominee and his official party, scores of political bigwigs and members of the notification committee which consisted of representatives from every state, Alaska, the Philippines, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, 1,000 persons in all, will sit.

Special Train

Special trains thundered to a stop every 10 minutes at the usually quiet junction of the Nickel Plate and Pennsylvania railroads in the heart of the city. It was all passenger traffic that made Elwood the railroad center of the nation for a day. Freight trains disappeared from the tracks in this area at 7 o'clock last night.

Scores of bands, uniformed marching groups, hundreds of souvenir salesmen and the profusely decorated streets and homes added to the gaiety and carnival spirit which prevailed.

Three circus elephants plodded slowly at the head of a Cincinnati delegation of 1,500 citizens, including U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, one of Willkie's rivals for the presidential nomination at the party Philadelphia convention.

Pictures of Willkie everywhere testified to Elwood's pride in its favorite son, the pride in fact of all Indiana in the first native Hoosier ever to be nominated for the presidency by a major political party.

Hot-dogs and soda pop, red, white and blue caps, post-cards, Willkie buttons, post-cards showing the nominee's birthplace, the school where he received his early education and souvenirs of every descriptions were sold at a hundred tent-stands in the downtown area and a similar number at Callaway park.

Started At 10 A. M.

The day's activities opened at 10 a. m., with the start of a four-hour, informal entertainment program at the notification grounds. Willkie's special train was to arrive from Rushville (Ind.) at noon, he was to speak informally from a platform in front of the high school at 2 p. m., and then proceed to Callaway park for the notification ceremonies.

About 10,000 persons, most of them homefolks, moseyed over to the high school last night for a sort of warm-up celebration.

It was a homey, shirt-sleeved occasion, with boys riding over on their bikes to shout encouragement to school-mates of the Elwood high school band, and mothers wheeling their youngsters over and parking the buggies.

Walter O'Keefe, the radio comedian from Notre Dame university, was master of ceremonies and kept the crowd in stitches with such remarks as his assurance that Wen Willkie was well rested for today's occasion.

"Why," O'Keefe went on, "every night out there in Colorado he went to sleep by counting Democrats."

Uncle Frank Willkie chuckled when O'Keefe observed that three more pictures of his famous nephew would make "Wen" even with Brenda Frazier.

Lots of Songs

Many of the 200-odd Willkie songs written since his nomination were sung, and there was community singing and some speeches, but mostly there was just visiting and community singing, and "I remember Wen when" reminiscing.

There was also awe at what was happening to usually quiet, complacent Elwood, at witness the observation of Bill Gibbons, the high school janitor.

"Ain't she a dandy," Bill said. "It beats all. Why just this afternoon a young fellow gathered up some little blocks the carpenters had brushed under the platform, and he sold them for 25 cents each, and I wouldn't lie to you.

"Yes, sir. She's a dandy. But, say, you ought to come down here for our tomato festival sometime. She's a dandy too."

Hanlin-Wells Formal Wedding Interests New Castle People

Of interest to New Castleites, is the formal church wedding, which took place this afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, in Westminster Presbyterian church, Steubenville, Ohio, uniting in marriage, Miss Marjorie June (Billie) Hanlin, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hanlin of Wierton, West Virginia, and Lewis G. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Herbert Wells of Colliers, West Virginia.

The Reverend Denton M. Gorow, who will become pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church in Steubenville, made an advance visit to perform the ceremony, both principals being members of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was stunning in a dress of ivory slipper satin, with full skirt forming the traditional formal train, falling from a fitted bodice. The neckline, outlined with a yoke of marquisette, was beaded with dainty seed pearls, and her long veil of French tulle, cascaded from a diadem of orange blossoms. Her principal jewel was a diamond bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom. In her hand she carried a Bible more than one hundred years old, beautifully rebound in satin to match, caught with ribbons and encrested with Lilies of the Valley. The Bible had been the special treasure of the great grandmother of the bride and had been handed down to her father.

Mrs. Lloyd S. Blinco, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a maize chiffon dress styled with a shirred bodice, long waist line and full skirt, toe length. Her hat was made of matching material, and too, was the color of her gown. She carried an arm cluster of blue delphinium and yellow tea roses.

Bridesmaids included the Misses Shirley Smith of East Liverpool, O., Drucilla Handy of Lynchburg, Va., Julia McFadden and Jean Fisher, both of Steubenville, O., all of whom wore Venezuela blue chiffon dresses, with matching hats. They carried harmonizing arm bouquets of gladioli.

Hunt of Easton, Pa., and Herbert Wells of Follansbee, West Va.

The ceremony, one of the loveliest and most distinguished events of the season due to the prominence of the principals, was made further impressive with a musical program presented by Mrs. J. R. Thorn on the David Manson Weir Memorial Organ, and the Belfry Chimes. Selections included "None But The Lonely Heart" by Tschaikowsky and "Poems" by Fibich. Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, other favorite numbers were contributed by the organist. The church was beautifully decorated for this notable occasion.

It is of interest to note, that more than seven generations have passed since the Hanlins' and the Wells' settled in the 1770's as neighbors in the tri-state area (Ohio, Pennsylvania and West. Va.) The bride's father, Fred A. Hanlin, is executive vice-president of the Weirton Steel Company at Wierton, West Va., and the bridegroom's father, is the senior partner of Ward, Wells and Dreshman, Fund-raising Councillors, with offices in Rochefeller Center, New York City.

Supplementing the ceremony, a reception and luncheon featured for the bridal party at the Wierton Country Club. Following, the newlyweds left by plane for New York City, then proceeded to Dallas, Texas. They will be at the Dallas Athletic Club from August 19th to October 15th when they will continue to Fort Worth, Texas. Their permanent home on the Wells Farm, will be their headquarters during the Christmas holidays.

The bride is a graduate of Birmingham School for Girls, also, she attended Harcum Junior College and Northwestern University. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority, and is accomplished in golf, riding, professional acting and modeling. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lawrenceville School at Lawrenceville, New Jersey and is a director of Ward, Wells and Dreshman. At one time he was associated with the New Castle News. ANOTHER ENEMY

ESTIMATE of Senator Clark of Missouri that the proposed excess profits levy will yield less than $200,000,000 this calendar year brings up a question about which the United States has been rather forgetful in the stress of European war implications for America. That is the fiscal position of this nation, which is certainly nothing to brag about and which can be a graver menace to the Republic than all the invasion bugaboos that can be flaunted in the scare heads.

This estimate, which probably is approximately correct, is based on the fact that expansion of defense industries has to be financed. Private investors do not want to put their money into war industries. The risk of their peace time collapse is too great for the expectation of temporary earnings.

So the government is moving to lend these industries the money—public money to be raised by taxes—and then exempt most of the profits of the industries from taxes until the expansions are paid for. The amortization period proposed is about five years.

In simple words, this means that most of the earnings of defense industries may not be a factor in government revenue for several years. If the duration of the emergency is short, they will never be a factor.

Already it is known in Washington, as it should be realized generally by all citizens, that the new debt limit of $49,000,000,000 can not be maintained very long in the face of Congressional appropriations that may reach $20,000,000,000 this year. And as the debt limit soars, the United States is up against all the ugly threats of pyramided borrowing including inflation, collapse and, it may be, the final realization that not foreign potentates but an internal looseness was the Republic's greatest enemy all the time.

CONSCRIPTION

Should this Congress incorporate in American life compulsory military service in time of peace this country, the greatest of all democracies, will have merged back into a deep historical background on one score at least by participating at last in a practice in which monarchy long specialized, to wit: the practice of occupying the attention of the people of a country by presenting them with the always absorbing business of war.

Written history does not go back far enough to identify the first potentate who took his subjects out and led, or pushed, them into battle. Virtually all the pioneer princes of this world practiced this with their people. Several ideas were behind it.

First, it expanded the potentate's dominion, as in the case of Alexander. Second, it gave the potentate political control at home, as in the case of Augustus and the Conscript Guard. Third, it took up unemployment slack on occasion, as in the case of the Pharaohs, who when there were no unconquered neighbors left, put the people to work building the pyramids.

Probably a huge army in time of peace will not result in attack upon the neighbors of the United States. Perhaps it will not give the man occupying the White House a political cinch on the country. But it certainly will take up the unemployment slack and so associate America in history with the ancient autocracy which flourished when the Pharaohs were on top.

CAMPAIGNER OR "FRIEND"?

When, in the course of a Presidential campaign, is a "fireside chat" not a campaign speech? That is a question engaging the National Association of Broadcasters no less than the supporters of Wendell Willkie. From the broadcasters' point of view the question has a distinct pocketbook interest, involving, as it does, free use of the air by rival candidates to the exclusion of profitable commercial programs.

The association has accepted the recommendation of its code committee to give an equal amount of free use of the air to candidates of all political parties regardless of size, which includes, of course, the communist.

Mr. Roosevelt's emanations over the air from the White House from now until the evening of November 4 will, it is assured, be acid-tested for intent. That is because the broadcasters have ruled that the burden of proof that the President is campaigning when he takes "my friends" into his confidence as to performance or purpose will rest upon opposition parties. His clear, warm and persuasive tones, therefore, will fall upon plenty of ears presensitized to analysis of intent.

As between reporting "on the state of the nation" and bidding for support at the polls, some mighty fine distinctions are bound to be drawn. Some of the broadcasting chains such as the Columbia—which the Republicans charged with discriminating against them in 1936—are on the spot because of the apparent closeness of the election.

With Uncle Sam going in strong for armament, cities which didn't get a new post office appear to be out of luck.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ARE THEY HUNGRY?

When Adolf Hitler returned from the front to Berlin after the French collapse, press dispatches discreetly hinted that the tremendous ovation he received had been pre-arranged by Nazi district leaders in Berlin. These functionaries had ordered citizens to report at the station to greet the Fuehrer with a "spontaneous burst of enthusiasm."

Certainly it is not from these "spontaneous" demonstrations but from the whispered rumors, the popular stories and wry jokes passed along from mouth to mouth that we gain the clear picture of what life is really like for populations locked in the vice of a dictatorship.

One such story, which has just made its way out of Germany, reveals better than a thousand official hand-outs or phony demonstrations, how the people really feel. It's the "Good Nazis' Recipe," and advises:

You take your meat card, dip it in your egg card and broil both of them brown on your butter card. The potato card is to be cooked on your coal card and covered with your flour card. For dessert, boil your coffee card and pour in your milk card. If you desire you may dip your sugar card in your coffee card. After the meal, wash your hands in your soap card, and dry them with your general rations card.

So much for glory!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THE FOSTER PARENT

With thousands of refugee European children headed for Canada and the United States, the problem of the foster parent is increasing.

Independents of the war, foster parenthood has been growing rapidly in the United States. In recent years child caring (welfare) agencies have been shifting emphasis from institutional care of the homeless child to his care in normal homes and families.

The demand for foster homes for delinquent and dependent children has been growing rapidly during the past few years, much greater than the supply. In some cities there has been a strong effort by the welfare federation to stimulate greater readiness among married pairs to provide homes for homeless children. It should be observed that most of the children for whom foster homes are desired are not delinquent or destitute children, or children whose homes are considered by the court as unfit for them.

Boarding Parents

Some parents and childless married couples obligate themselves to become foster parents without pay. Others receive a nominal sum for board, hence called "boarding parents". Sometimes the foster parents desire to adopt the child after they have had him in their home for some while.

It is the practice of the child caring agency to check carefully upon the home before placing the child in it, as a temporary home or for adoption. Unless or until the child is adopted, the agency keeps in touch with the foster home and exercises general supervision over the child.

During a forum discussion with 450 foster mothers of Allegheny county, at Pittsburgh, some months ago, I learned that some parents or childless couples serve as foster parents of one or several children for years and report great personal satisfaction with the undertaking.

This was a kind of "experience meeting" in which many foster parents told of the children they had mothered who turned out well and developed into good, useful citizens. As I said to the audience, I hardly know when I ever stood before so many unselfish souls. They are doing more good than they will ever know.

Modern Challenge

Refugee children offer a peculiar challenge today. Making a home for them may, however, carry with it a greater obligation than that of being foster parents to children in the immediate community.

The average refugee child has been unaccustomed to so much luxury and freedom as our native children and there will be a strong temptation of some who mother these children to be over-indulgent toward these children in sefl-reliance, self-sacrifice and responsibility.

Then there is the problem of relatives and neighbors who, with a kind of morbid curiosity, will want to know all the details about the child's experiences incident to the war.

Let them mind their own business. Refuse to discuss such matters with them, especially in the child's presence. Don't allow them to "pump" the child. Try to act toward this child as toward any other normal child. The more you can help him forget his tragic past the better.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. How long should an infant sleep in 24 hours?

A. From birth to four months, practically all the time when not being fed and bathed; from 5 months to 1 year, 16 to 18 hours; from 1 to 2 years, 14 to 16 hours; from 2 to 4 years, 13 to 14 hours; 4 to 6 years, 12 to 13 hours.

Q. Suppose the grandmother, mother or neighbor recognizes clear symptoms of measles, or chicken pox, or the like developing in the child, and does not call the doctor so the family won't be quarantined, even though they quarantine themselves?

A. In the first place, her "diagnosis" might be wholly wrong and, on that account the child might lose his life. Then, if she is right, the child's life and future health may be endangered. These children's diseases are treacherous; all too many children still die from them. But almost none do where the child is under proper medical care early enough. Here let me plead with parents whose children of any age have recovered from one of the infectious or contagious diseases to keep in touch with your doctor, and have him check the child thoroughly every month oh so for the next several months.

WAITING FOR THE MORNING

The evening shadows slowly mold,
Itself about the earth.
The strongest trees their prayers unfold
And have since date of birth.
The river now beside the tree
With waters once so gay
Rests peacefully as one can see
And will till break of day
Why! even do the little grasses to
Each other say "good night"
They wait 'till falls the morning dew.
To bring first rays of light
And so it is when evening comes
To rock Nature to sleep
They all await the rising sun
And for the dawn to peep
Above the hills as if to say,
Come out it's time to play.

HAD BACKBONE

It happened at a young people's dance in this town we hear in a round-about way: He appeared to be a shy young man and shyly asked the visiting girl for a dance. As they danced he said: "You are pretty, your figure is pretty and your dress is pretty." "And I hate the word "pretty" replied the visiting girl. The young man stopped dancing and offering the girl his arm, led her to a seat, saying as he bowed from the waist. "And you have a pretty bad disposition." He walked over to another girl and asked her to dance. Never can tell about those shy young men; they may have pretty strong backbones.

Quite a few higher ups who have been close to President Roosevelt are now rooting for Willkie. They evidently know what they are doing—and why.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By FRANCINE MARKEL

"The financial depression has reduced me temporarily to the necessity of earning my living as a housemaid. The woman who employed me until recently was kind and considerate with the result that I never made any mistakes or did an awkward thing from nervousness Unfortunately, she left the city and my present employer is a nervous, nagging woman whose fault-finding jitters me so that I break things and make all sorts of mistakes Do, please, write a few lines rebuking such housewives."—E. G. C.

I well know the type of woman to whom this unfortunate girl refers If not of the class that has suddenly reached the status of affording a servant she is probably one of those middle-aged women who are chronically jealous of those much younger or more physically attractive than themselves. Well-bred people treat their servants with politeness, courtesy and friendliness, maintaining at the same time a formal dignity. Schools for house-wives entering the class that can afford domestic employees are quite as urgently needed as are training school for maids, butlers and cooks.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: I am taking lessons in horseback riding. Please tell me how I should dress.—Marge.

Answer: First of all, your hair should be combed severely and pinned back so that the wind and bouncing will not play havoc with it. If you wish to dress precisely according to the standards prescribed for this sport, you should wear: Either riding breeches and boots or jodhpurs, a perfectly-fitting tailored coat, a severaly tailored shirt with a tie or stock, heavy loosely-fitting gloves.

This is the conventional attire, worn by the properly-groomed equestrienne. Knickers with oxfords, berets and sweaters are not considered to be correct items of a woman's riding costume.

Question: How should a bride and groom be congratulated. I have been told that the word "congratulate" should be used when speaking to the bride. Is this true? If so, what, then should be said to her?—Alice.

Answer: Congratulate the bridegroom and wish the bride "good luck and much happiness." The bridegroom is congratulated on his good fortune in getting such a lovely wife. But the bride should never be congratulated on her good fortune in getting a husband. That would be an insulting insinuation.

"Now come home early, dear, because I have something I want to talk to you about," said the wife of a man as he left in the morning.

"Unusual woman, your wife," remarked a friend as the pair headed toward town. "My wife generally wants to talk to me about the things she hasn't got."

Translated, this means:

"Eggs" a bomb; "fish" refers to a man new on the job; to "pop" your cork" is to lose one's temper: to "cap a Sunday" is to strike a person; a "berth-control," is a key used to open berths on a sleeper plane.

What's What At A Glance

Nazi Newspapers Promote New Tall Story
Say Lindbergh Heads New Third Party Here
"Lone Eagle" May Have Political Aspirations

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A political third party is forming in the United States, according to German newspapers, and, say these same publications, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is to be its presidential nominee.

The yarn made its initial appearance, Berlin dispatches relate, the day after the colonel broadcast his radio speech urging strict neutrality upon us as to the European conflict, accusing domestic and foreign "interests" of trying to lead us into the struggle and insisting that we can live on good terms with the Nazis if they win.

It seems that the story appeared under a New York date line, implying that it was cabled across from our side of the Atlantic, though of course it's possible that Dr. Joseph Goebbels cooked it up right in Germany.

Though the Germans doubtless would be glad to think that Lindy's talk made a tremendous hit with Americans, yet it's hard to believe that they really swallow the report of his prospective nomination for the White House. Quite regardless of his speech, one would think they'd realize that there are several other reasons why he isn't much of a presidential possibility.

In congress even the isolationist group rather wishes that Charley hadn't made that address. Its members are afraid he made their cause ridiculous, perhaps not altogether by the views he expressed, but on account of what they speak of as his "swell headedness" in setting himself up as an authority on statesmanship and diplomacy. Some comment is to be heard to the effect that he actually is ambitious to break into high-up politics, maybe recalling that his father was in the house of representatives where, by the way, a good many of his associates referred to him as at least eccentric.

Wallace And His Boomerang

The German presidential story is somewhat on a par with one recently circulated (but this latter one was too obviously a joke to be taken seriously even by a Nazi) in connection with Democratic Vice Presidential Nominee Henry A. Wallace's prowess as a boomerang thrower.

Boomerang throwing, as already has been widely advertised, is Henry's pet hobby.

Not long ago he took a day off to indulge in his favorite sport and several cameramen accompanied him to shoot pictures of the performance. Well Henry hurled formidably, but unfortunately his boomerang, curving backward in its flight, hit one of the photographers, knocked him cold, and split open his scalp to such an extent that a number of stitches had to be taken in it.

Thereupon Washington pressmen proclaimed extensively the supposed news that our preparedness commission had drafted the vice presidential aspirant to head a boomerang corps for inclusion in our national defensive organization.

It wasn't printed, like the Lindy story, but it got to Henry and they say it bothered him considerably, as too frivolous to help his candidacy.

Willkie A Tammanyite

All the jokes aren't on Democratic candidates, though.

The Democrats are making the most of the discovery that Wendell Willkie's a Tammanyite.

Republican headquarters doesn't like it a bit. Of course, everyone knew that the G. O. P. nominee was a Democrat until quite recently, but that he once actually joined the New York Tiger family and still belongs to it (unless he automatically dropped out of it by becoming a Republican) was a new piece of information.

For one thing, it's been Republican policy to play Willkie down, somewhat, as a New Yorker, and play him up as a Hoosier, on the theory that he'll get more votes out in the sticks if not over emphasized as a big city man. But it's difficult to blink a Tammanyite's big cityishness.

Moreover, the Republicans thought they had some good ammunition in the fact that the Democrats chose as their national chairman Ed Flynn of the Bronx a "metropolitan boss." Nevertheless he did fight Tammany, as an undesirable sort of a political organization—and now it's revealed that Wndell belonged to it.

It's a mixed up mess if ever there was one.

Yet it's explicable. The Republicans and Democrats are commingled and now they're dividing into two new parties.

However, it's safe betting on one item. Lindy won't be nominated for president.

Bible Thought For Today

The discretion of a man deferreth his anger; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression. Prov. 19:11.

Hints On Etiquette

When presents are given at a birthday party, it is customary to open them as soon as they are presented, not to leave them unopened until the party is over.

An old widower complains that his neighbors keep pestering him by telling him 'I know just the woman for you," when he wants to be let alone.

He was happily married for years, but he does not want to risk it again, he says.

Election Year And WPA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. IT IS a strange thing that the number of distressed unemployed on the WPA relief rolls should show a consistent increase in the election years and just as consistent decrease in the years free from elections. But that is the indisputable record.

—o—

IT HAPPENED exactly that way under the fanatically partisan Mr. Harry Hopkins, expounder of the political vitues of spending, and it seems about to happen in the same way under Mr. Hopkins' successor, Col. F. C. Harrington, who is not politically minded at all. In 1934, 1936 and 1938 the Federal relief rolls began to swell early in September, increased daily through October and reached their peak just about election day.

—o—

THERE are unmistakable evidences that this performance will be approximately duplicated in 1940. Chiefly, this assertion is based on an investigation made by the United States News, a factual publication dealing exclusively with Governmental affairs. It points out that there are at present 1,700,000 persons "working" on WPA jobs, but that the schedule of the WPA administrator is for an increase to 1,800,000 by October, to 2,000,000 by November, to 2,200,000 by December and 2,300,000 by January, after which the totals will decrease.

—o—

IF THIS schedule is carried out—and there seems no doubt it will be—it means that the monthly WPA expenditures of $110,000,000 in July will rise to more than $140,000,000 before election day. It means that the entire $975,000,000 appropriated by Congress this year will be spent in eight instead of twelve months. In brief, between now and election day, the Administration will distribute $30,000,000 more among the voters than if the relief rolls were held to their present figure. That is a blunt statement, but it is a true one. No matter what the alibi, no matter how valid the excuse nor how pure the purpose of the administrator, the additional expenditure in the three months before the election by an Administration seeking votes of such a sum to provide "jobs" for the unemployed has the effect of a campaign fund.

—o—

THERE is no getting away from that. According to the United States News, there are some 1,500,000 applicants who want to become WPA workers. Between now and election day it is proposed to put some 300,000 of these on the WPA rolls. If, as it seems fair to assume, each of these is worth two other family votes, a total of 900,000 voters will have been practically purchased with Government money. That will not be the intent of Colonel Harrington, but it will be the effect just the same. The use of so much additional money just preceding the election cannot help but influence the campaign. Certainly, it makes the limitations of the Hatch Act seem trivial and one-sided.

—o—

THE DEFENSE of these pre-election increases in WPA expenditures has always been plausible but unconvincing. It is particularly so this year, already marked by a high level of business activity which the defense program is expected to raise to a higher level still. The excuses given are—first, that always at this period the pressure for relief is

Just Folks

VACATION TIME

Vacation time; an hour for swatting flies,
Another hour for capturing the bait,
Hanging the bathing suit until it dries
And making sure we've closed the meadow gate,
And then at night of bridge an hour or two
Because just then there's nothing else to do.

Vacation time! A mile to go for ice,
And friends who must be rowed upon the lake,
That means at least two hours of being nice,
A sacrifice the host must always make,
And then with extra people to be fed
A trip to town for sugar and for bread.

Vacation time: two weeks of ancient beds
And broken screens and doors that never close,
And when it rains—no roof above our heads
And five long miles to go to picture shows
Two weeks of hardship in the guise of rest
And then once more to find that home is best.

greater than at any other; second, that the defense program has not gotten really started as yet; third, that defense orders are concentrated in a few key industries calling for skilled workers, whereas the WPA workers are largely unskilled; fourth, that the increased business activity has not yet decreased unemployment—though why is not explained.

—o—

SO FAR as Colonel Harrington is concerned, he can be acquitted of any partisan intent. He is not a politician and is above using relief money for political purposes. The fact remains, however, that it is impossible to prevent the WPA from being used for political purposes when so much additional money is spent and so many additional persons put on the rolls just ahead of the election. WPA State administrators are appointed upon recommendation of Senators, and the minor WPA officials in the States, to a very large extent, have been named on recommendation of the local politicians. That is the system and there is no way to avoid it. Inevitably, it is the ward and precinct executives of the city machines who have the most influence in getting people on the relief rolls. It is their business to know the ropes. It is their game to be helpful.

—o—

THEL TELL the applicants where to go, whom to see, what to do and what to say. It is clearly to their interests to get them on the rolls because once on they naturally are grateful to those who helped and inclined to vote as desired. It is not surprising the practical politicians adhere to the New Deal and love the WPA. "You don't," as one of them said some time ago, "buy votes any more—you just put them on relief." It is a pretty dreadful system, but nothing can be done to effect a change until the whole scheme of relief is changed. In the meantime, public attention again can be drawn to the facts. There is always the chance that as the people begin more clearly to see the facts, popular resentment may off set the Administration advantage.

limit his measure to limit the draft to army requirements—estimated at from 750,000 to 1,000,000 men—the opposition bloc will give the legislation the "go ahead".

It was understood Maloney promised to give the compromise "full consideration" and have his answer prepared before the senate begins voting on amendments late next week.

It was announced, meanwhile, that Sen. Tydings (D) Md., is drafting an amendment to limit the conscription program to 750,000 men. Two attempts to limit the program of registration to 1,000,000 men were defeated by the senate military affairs committee.

These developments projected themselves into the forefront as Sen. Byrnes (D) S. C. admitted that the fate of the administration's program depends on four or five votes, now recorded for the Maloney amendment.

Clovers Regain Champion Form

Take First Place In Legion League As Johnson Pitches Two - Hitter To Down Elks

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—For the first time since the end of the first-half campaign, the Clover Farms looked like the team that smothered under all opposition to take the first-half championship of the American Legion Junior League without meeting defeat.

Johnson, making his first start since being overcome by the Ellport Red Sox several weeks ago, flashed the form which gained him seven consecutive wins in the first half, as he set the Elks down with two scratch sngles, while his mates regained their old punch to climb on Shaffer and Poholsky for nine hits and eleven runs.

The 11-2 victory gained the Clovers a half game lead over the second place Ellports, but today's clash between these two rivals will decide the first place holders.

Third Drowning In Crouch Family Occurs Thursday

Son Of Joseph Crouch's Cousin Drowns In Allegheny River Near Foxburg

Tragedy visited the Crouch family here a second time this week, when William Crouch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Crouch, cousins of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crouch, whose two children, Frank and Elmer, drowned in the Mahoning river at Covert's Crossing, Tuesday afternoon, was also drowned in the Allegheny river at the mouth of the Clarion river, between Parkers Landing and Foxburg.

The body had not yet been recovered today, Mr. Crouch was informed. They plan to visit their grief-stricken relatives Sunday. The third drowning occurred just 48 hours after the two local boys lost their lives.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mike Paul, 118 Gardner avenue, in police court today was fined $100 by Mayor Charles B. Mayne as the alleged proprietor of a disorderly house. It was reported by police a quantity of liquor was found there. Three women, Bernice Emery, white, Oak street, and Mrs. Olivia Brown and Bessie Johnson, both colored, were all fined $100. Two men friends of Paul were each fined $5. The Emery girl said she roomed at the place. Mrs. Johnson claimed she was Paul's wash-woman and the Brown woman had accompanied her there. The men had paid Paul a visit, the first in months, they told His Honor. However, His Honor declared the police had been watching the place for some time, and last night Lieutenant Steiner, Police Matron McKibben and Cruiser Operator Thompson placed the house and occupants under arrest.

Darb Kennedy imbibed a wee bit too much last night—just enough to make him a little unsteady and when he lost his equilibrium he fell over the retaining wall of the Neshannock creek, a drop of about 20 feet into the creek. Patrolman Peter Hillers, who resides on Neshannock avenue, noticed the incident. Police, armed with a rope, lassoed Kennedy and hauled him to safety. He was not only wet inside but outside and today Mayor Charles B. Mayne considered the fall and undesired "ducking" sufficient punishment and he was liberated without a fine.

Nelli Maggi, who said she was an Ellwood City resident, and Elsie Lewis, who claimed Oak street as her place of habitat, faced His Honor's penetrating glances. From the police report he read that they had been in an East Side restaurant and had indulged in one of those women's brawls in which glasses were knocked from a table and hair was pulled.

According to Nelli's testimony, a boy friend and her conversed in Polish. This caused Elsie's ire to rise. She stated she didn't like to hear them talk in Polish and explained to the mayor: "I told them to talk American." The testimony from the defendants from there on was at variance. His Honor said: "We are going to stop women carousing at night. I have seen drunken women trying to lead sober men. Ten dollars fine for each!"

John Short, colored, was a frequenter in court again. It appears that Acting Lieutenant D. J. Thomas told John and several white men who made too much noise at 2:30 a. m. at East Washington and Mercer streets to "be on their way". John evidently argued with the police lieutenant who immediately sent John to cool off in the police station. However, because he had not been in jail recently, His Honor let John go without a fine.

Nab Ex-Burgess On Libel Charge

Former Burgess Of West Homestead Arrested At Draft Protest Meeting

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Former West Homestead Burgess Richard H. Lawry was under $2,500 bond today following his arrest last night during a meeting at North Side Carnegie hall called to protest the Burke-Wadsworth military conscription bill.

Charges of criminal libel were filed against Lawry by Edward Francis Sullivan, a former investigator for the Dies committee, who claimed Lawry had made false statements about him in a pamphlet distributed several months ago.

The arresting officers suddenly appeared in the midst of the meeting and took Lawry, who was acting as chairman.

"This is a damnable frameup," Lawry shouted.

Lawry was arrested while the principal speaker, Miss Anna M. Pennypacker, daughter of a former governor of Pennsylvania, was making her address. Lawry is district leader of the International Workers Order.

Turkey Flocks Two Per Cent Less In Nation

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—Turkey flocks are two per cent less throughout the nation than in 1939, the federal-state crop reporting service asserted today.

The south and western areas report decreases up to five per cent and the south Atlantic turkey raising area announces declines as high as 15 per cent. However, the north Atlantic and north central regions reveal increases to 10 per cent.

The service said an extensive survey of turkeys will be made in September to determine the probable supply for the winter season.

At the same time, the service said that Pennsylvania egg production for July, 1940, was the largest for that month since 1931, but was 24,000,000 eggs less than reported in June when 191,000,000 eggs were produced. The decline, according to the service, was noticeable all over the country and July production was 110,000,000 eggs less than the 3,373,000,000 reported nationally.

BREAD

A lot of the bread we eat today is just so much filling for the part of the wheat we popularly call the "heart" or germ has been taken out in the process of milling. Wheat germ is a brown, oily substance, and when left in white flour, soon discolors it and causes it to go rancid.

That was why it began to be the practise to remove the wheat germ when mills commenced turning out white flour for commerce years ago. Before that time, our fathers and grandfathers walked to the nearest mill carrying a bag of wheat, had it ground, and carried it home as flour. All the vitamins were still in it, although they didn't know a thing about them, and the flour was a real food.

It was only comparatively recently that scientists found ordinary white flour lacking in certain vitamins that the wheat proper contains in abundance. This brought a swing to whole wheat flour and whole wheat bread and this, I think, was a good thing. However, whole wheat bread contains a lot of roughage, more, in fact, than is good for some tender stomachs.

Scientists then began experimenting to find how to keep flour white and soft, and yet retain the vitamins ordinarily lost in milling. One man I know, devoted his life and his fortune to it. He was head of a large milling corporation, and he got himself interested in this fascinating research to the point where he threw up his job and at his own expense equipped his laboratory and went to work full time.

Eventually he decided the wheat germ couldn't be left in the flour when it was milled, but that the germ removed could be prepared so that it could be put back to revitalize the flour. Bread made from such a flour is as rich in vitamins as whole wheat bread. It can be richer if the baker happens to add more of the germ than he needs to. And it doesn't have the roughage that makes whole wheat bread objectionable.

I would like to tell you that this man with his discovery has had honors heaped on him, and that he has made a fortune from his discovery, but unfortunately that isn't the case. As one baker told me, the trade is full of new trick flours, and this man's discovery was looked on as just another one of those.

The man I speak of, has taken the disappointment very well. He knows what he has accomplished, and I know he feels that some day his work will be really recognized. In the meantime I think he gets some comfort from the fact that the Dionne Quintuplets eat bread made from his flour.

Handicraft Work Popular At Camp

Girl Scouts At Camp Kiondashawa Are Working On Hooked Rugs

(Special To The News)

CAMP KIONDASHAWA, Aug. 17.—Activities of the Hobby Unit at Girl Scout Camp Kiondashawa have been centering about handicraft work during the past week.

The girls began making hooked rugs Thursday under the leadership of Mrs. George Ward. The dyes for the rugs are steeped from natural materials on the grounds, such as golden rod, red sumac berries, onion skin and spinach.

Rough designs were sketched on burlap, some of which were a campfire, the rising bell, a cabin, a canoe, swimming pool and a flag. After the designs have been completely hooked, the 18 patch rug will tell 18 short stories of as many days in camp. The rug will be displayed at the traditional campfire party tonight.

One of the late accomplishments of the "horsemen" was a boat trip down the Shenango river, stopping off to cook supper over an open fire. They returned in time to be included in the evening's entertainment of folk dancing.

HALF BILLION IN FIGHTING PLANES OVER ENGLAND TODAY

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 17.—More than a half billion dollars worth of fighting equipment was flung about in the skies over Britain today as thousands of British and Germans clashed in ceaseless combat.

While no official estimates of the number of craft involved were available, it was assumed that perhaps 3,000 British and Nazi planes were fighting.

Fighting planes cost $25,000 or more while bombers run as high as $400,000 apiece.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The adolescent period is a difficult one for many youths.

Adolescence ranges from the age of about 12 to 20 years.

Youth clings to the protection and pleasures of childhood.

Yet wants the privileges and responsibilities of adulthood.

The physical changes during adolescence are familiar.

Children grow rapidly and become awkward at this time.

They tire easily and develop eruptions on the face and chest.

The mentally superior child may be restless and mischievous.

The dull or defective youth is ridiculed by others.

He retaliates by showing superior physical ability as a bully.

Parents should set a good example in speech, temper and conduct.

Patient and understanding elders will help youth to grow up.

The new juryrooms, which have been under the course of construction for some time, have finally been completed and are now ready for use. Designed particularly for the accommodation of mixed murder juries, where the people on the jury will be shut up in the retiring room overnight, the upstairs portion of the quarters contain two rooms which lead off to the north and south from the head of the stairway. Each contain toilet rooms, a shower bath, chairs, and double-deck bunks which can accommodate a complete jury.

The furniture was moved into place this week, and the jury room will be ready for use at the September court term.

Desertion and non-support cases have become so frequent of late that the court is occupied with these cases one day a week, and then is never done. Friday Judge Dickey heard a number of such cases.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey handed down an opinion Friday, refusing a new trial to Michael Bobbino charged with violation of the Pennsylvania election code, in that he voted illegally at the primary election held Tuesday, September 12, 1939. Bobbino was convicted of voting in the first election district of the Eighth Ward after his legal place of residence had been changed, the family moving from the district on August 28, 1930. He will be sentenced by the court later.

Ernest Sawby, convicted of burglary in the theft of money from a truck owned by N. H. Lazier, in Ellwood City on February 7, 1940, was placed on parole for two years by Judge Thomas W. Dickey, Friday. He was ordered to make restitution of the money taken, and pay the costs. Sawby had just been released from the Allegheny county jail after serving a sentence for another crime.

Ralph Martin and Stanley Gruca, convicted of stealing a mowing machine from Everett Moore, of R. F. D. No. 2, Volant, were placed on parole by Judge Dickey for a period of two years. They are said to have sold the machine to Harry Stpuk, of near Canfield, O., where the machine was recovered. They were ordered to pay the costs of prosecution, and reimburse Mr. Stpuk for the money received from him for the machine.

Clarence G. Jones, who entered a plea of guilty to the charge of adultery, was placed on parole for two years, upon payment of a fine of $100 and the costs in the case, and lying-in expenses.

A hearing on a surety of the peace charge brought by Luciano De Vincentis of Pearson street, against his brother-in-law Joseph Pandolphi, of Big Run street, was conducted by Judge James Dickey, Friday. The case grew out of ill feeling in the settlement of the estate of Pandolphi's father and is said to have culminated in a fight between the two, when De Vincentis is alleged to have used a razor. Judge Dickey after hearing the evidence, found the defendant not guilty and divided the costs equally between the two.

Judge Dickey refused a new trial on the petition of Ralph Largo, convicted of hindering a witness and attempting to dissuade a witness, which grew out of a case in which Largo's brother was charged with pandering and taking bawd money. He was convicted of securing a signed statement from Josephine Coloa, under threat, which was introduced as evidence in court, and which resulted in Largo's brother being found not guilty. The testimony showed that Largo made an appointment to meet Josephine Coloa at the Streamline Cafe, and went from there to the Rendezvous, where she signed a statement. He then ordered her to stay off the streets and threatened her life if she did not do what he wanted her to.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey handed down an opinion in an action in equity brought by Margaret Meehan against Clara A. Wadlinger and Louis A. Wadlinger, which involved a dispute over an alleyway between their properties at 210 and 212 Bluff street.

Testimony in the case showed that there had been a driveway between the two properties which had been in use for 52 years, since the time the Meehan home was first built, and that later it was closed by Wadlinger, who erected a fence and iron gate.

The court ordered the alleyway, passable, level, ad fit for vehicular traffic be maintained between the two properties a full width of 14½ feet, and that a perpetual injunction issuing and directing the plaintiff and defendants to remove all obstructions from the disputed driveway and to refrain from doing anything in the future which would interfere with the use of the said alleyway. The costs in the case were distributed evenly between the two parties.

William Floyd Leight has filed an exception to the decision of the Compensation Board, in a suit against Uhl Construction Company and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, which grew out of an award for compensation for injuries received by Leight while in the employe of the Uhl company. Testimony will be taken by the court at the September term.

A transcript of appeal has been taken from the docket of Alderman James C. Brice, in which judgment was awarded Francis Hanna in the sum of $150 in his suit against Louis Fusco.

The evergreens which surround the court house have been given a heavy treatment of rotted sawdust, which should make them grow well. Evergreens require an acid soil, and this will supply the type of nourishment they require.

Brooklyn Man Leaps To Death

Jumps From Seventh Floor Of Office Building In Hartford, Conn.

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 17.—Slugging an elevator operator to gain possession of the elevator, a man identified by police as Joseph L. Owens, about 50, of Brooklyn, N. Y., leaped to his death Friday from a seventh story window of a downtown building.

The operator, George Tamborini, spread an alarm and an emergency brake halted the elevator on the seventh floor.

The man dashed through an office and made his way to a ledge outside a window.

While a crowd on the street below pleaded with him to go back, someone turned in the fire alarm.

Owens remained on the ledge until he heard the sirens of approaching firemen.

Then he crossed himself, shouted "Here I Come," and plunged to the street.

Indians Increase Lead In League

Bobby Feller Wins His 21st Game As Tigers Bow To Lowly St. Louis Browns

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—It's high time today that we doff the derby in the direction of James Emory Foxx, the nearest thing to a home run king since the one-and-only Babe Ruth retired from the major league scene.

Foxx, who can play any position, now is second only to the big Bambino in the total number of four-baggers hit by a major leaguer. Yesterday Jimmy belted his 30th and 31st homers of the current campaign to boost his total for 13 years in the big show to 495 and break an old mark of 494 hit by Lou Gehrig in his 15 years career with the New York Yankees.

Of course, Foxx, total doesn't come near the number belted out of the lot by Ruth. Babe collected 714 round-trippers but then he gathered them over a span of 21 semesters. It is considered unlikely that old double X, who is now 32 years old, will be able to hold out long enough to catch Ruth.

Indians Win Again

There was a bit of dramatics in Foxx' second homer yesterday, for it came in the tenth inning and gave the Boston Red Sox a 7 to 6 win over the Washington Senators. His first prodigious poke was made in the first inning with a mate on base.

Bob Feller gave the Cleveland Indians a commanding three game hold on first place in the American league by downing the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 3, for his 21st pitching triumph of the season. Rapid Robert was hit freely but was effective in the pinches.

Detroit's pitching collapsed in the late innings and the Chicago White Sox staged a nine-run rally in the eighth to walk off with a 13 to 4 verdict over the Tigers. Philadelphia and New York were not scheduled.

The Cincinnati Reds who, for awhile showed signs of cracking up, came back to take the Chicago Cubs in a Doubleheader, 9 to 4, and 6 to 3, and make it plenty difficult for any team to catch them in the race for the National League pennant.

Pirates Split Two

Pittsburgh and St. Louis divided a twin bill, the Pirates taking the opener, 6 to 5 and the Cardinals the night cap, 9 to 5, with long Lon Warneke traveling the distance.

Hal (Hard Luck) Schumacher, after a shaky start, settled down to trim the basement bunch of Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 3, in a night game.

Behind the five-hit pitching of Nick Strincevich, the Boston Bees defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 2 to 1 in a night game that continued until midnight as the boys battled it out for 12 innings.. Vito Tamulis limited the Bees to six hits.

The milk consumption of New York City is transported from five states and two Canadian provinces.

This young lady, Marylois Brown, 17, of St. Petersburg, Fla., wants to be the Sonja Henie of the swimming pool. Marylois, who is free style swim champion of southeastern states, recently won five events in one meet. A contender for national honors, she's a high school student.

Baseball School Teams To Compete

"Rabbit" Maranville and Al Kruez, directors of the Atlantic Refining free baseball school for boys, have selected the New Castle squad which will vie with similar aggregations for district honors.

The 16 boys picked will receive complete outfits from the Atlantic Refining company.

Should the New Castle team grab the district gonfalon, the localites will compete in the finals in Philadelphia, Maranville and Kruez stated.

The squad selected:

Play Tuesday

New Castle gets its first taste of competition on Tuesday evening at Elders Field, opposing the Sharon squad. The game will probably start at 5:30. The definite time will be announced Monday.

The winner will be pitted against the Butler-Johnstown winner.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Lucy Hanover captured the Tompkins Memorial consolation for two-year-old trotters on the final card of the Grand Circuit meeting at Good Time park, Goshen, N. Y., Friday. Perpetual won the first heat in 2:12 3-4 but Lucy Hanover came back to take the second in 2:10 and the third in 2:09½. Lord Selka was best in the first two heats of the classified trot but lost the third to Town Talk in 2:06½.

At Ford City the first two heats of the 2:18 pace went to Fielder but Clyde Henley nipped the third heat in the stretch. The best time, 2:12, was in the second heat. Elsie S. Dean, Sara Minton and Victor Man each captured a heat in the trot, the best time being 2:15 by Elsie Dean in the second heat. In the two-year-old trot Fruity Hanck won.

Taking the rail at the start and setting a fast pace throughout Pandora Mint, heavily-backed favorite, won the Cumberland, Md., feature, the six and a half furlong Knights of Columbus purse. Irish Oak, a 50 to 1 shot, slipped in on the rail behind the leader on the home stretch and finished a second to pay $42.60 for the place.

Danny Ryan, trainer for Sammy Angott, NBA lightweight champion, claims Sammy is punching harder than ever and believes Sammy has a good chance to flatten Fritzie Zivic in their bout at Forbes field, Pittsburgh, August 26. Luke Carney, manager of Fritzie, claims the latter is climbing into good condition and hopes to add Sammy to his K. O. list.

Johnny Dean and Jimmy Burns will pair off in one of the bouts Tuesday night in Youngstown. Johnny is rounding into good condition. He is tough, game and aggressive. It will be one of the bouts on the Youngstown police insurance card.

With Meade up, Bimelich will make a bid at Saratoga Springs today for the three-year-old crown... Kenny La Salle and Charlie Burns will fight at Pittsburgh, Monday.

Gordon Robinson, Stamford, Ct., and Bill Maul, Detroit, advanced to the finals of the Great Lakes net meet at Erie. Maul upset Harry Zink of Steubenville and Robinson turned back Dick Shipp, Harrisburg.

Shattering the Scarboro, Ont., course record for the second straight day, Sam Snead last night held a five-stroke lead in the Canadian open golf tourney at the end of qualifying play with a 66, five under par. He has a 36-hole total of 133.

SYLVAN HEIGHTS LEAGUE

New Castle Moose gained a full point on the league-leading Scarazzo's in the Sylvan Heights League last evening at Sylvan Heights course and have a mathematical chance of overtaking the present league leaders for the second half championship, although Scarazzo's continued their pace, defeating Unions 3½ to 2½; New Castle Moose won from Fenton's, 4½ to 1½.

Results of other matches are as follows: Saegertowns, 4; Duca D'Abruzzi, 2; Universal Sanitary Manufacturing Co., 3; Shenango Pottery, 2½; Herge's, 3; Ellwood City Saxons, 3; Shelby Social, 6; Ellwood City Moose, 0, forfeited match.

The matches which were postponed from last Tuesday evening will be played off on Tuesday evening of next week, in addition to the regular match of next Friday evening.

LACH GOING GOOD

Ted Lach, 15-year-old Sylvan Heights star, is shootnig the best golf of his life right now, and has been burning up the fairways at Sylvan Heights. During the past week, he had rounds of 69 and 70, which is well under the par 72 figure for the course, and promises to give his opponents in the city championship a good run for their money.

Frank Babs, who also shoots a mean game of golf, had a deuce on the par 4, No. 7 hole at Sylvan Heights this week. The hole is a dog-leg, but Babs went over the trees to the green and sunk his second shot.

During the first eight months of 1939, K. L. M. carried about 88,000 passengers, but because of the war, during the past four months, only about 10,000 passengers were carried by the line.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Bits of everything.... Several Ellwoodians are somewhat perturbed because we mentioned Jim McCready as being one of the best moundsmen in Lawrence county. "Records usually speak for themselves don't they? If that's the case, McCready is the best in Lawrence county. You want proof? Here it is," the contributors state.

"So far," the writers point out, "big Jim", who is 20, has won 10 of his last 11 games, one of the games being a tie. In his last four performances, McCready has given up only 13 hits. His last journey to the mound was a two-hit gem against the New Castle Hot Tops. Don't overlook the fact that he pegs 'em in the Lawrence county loop." This is good enough for us, unless someone can show us a better mark.

Benny Bartle, the local amateur, absorbed his second licking of the week in Farrell. After losing here Monday, Benny dropped the nod to Chris Williams, Erie. Bartle lost his tonsils recently. This, perhaps, may have affected his fighting. "Baby" Ritorto was bested by Jimmy Varkett, Ashtabula, on the same card.

What's the real lowdown on Ossie Vitt, Cleveland chief? Around the Injuns' wigwam they say Vitt will be back win, lose or draw. Manhattan scribblers report to the contrary. ...Chet Ross, who formerly wore a Beaver Falls Bees' uniform, is leading the National league in triples.

Those stingless Bees confess that they can do without facing left hand pitchers. No wonder! As of Friday, the Bees have lost 18 decisions to portsiders compared to three victories....Sorry to report that Lou Gehrig's health is still failing. Columbia Lou, nevertheless, is keeping his chin up and is confident that he'll lick the ailment.

Exclusive of games played yesterday, Jimmy Foxx needed one more homer to equal Lou Gehrig's total of circuit wallops. Gehrig amassed 494 in 17 years of campaigning. Foxx has reached the 493 mark in 16 seasons....Buster Mills has been shipped to Kansas City by the Yankees. In the A. A., he'll replace Matheson, who is on the shelf due to injuries.

Elmer Layden, boss of Notre Dame, is reportedly planning to junk some of the speed on his club in favor of power. It just isn't Irish for teams like Southern California to push N. D. all over the field. So, Elmer plans to do something about it....They say beware of Michigan and Iowa. Eddie Anderson will miss Nile Kinnick. There's still plenty of stuff left, however.

Thrills Galore In City-County Loops

Pulaski, West Side, Princeton, Unions Civics, South Hills Record Wins

City-County Independent Baseball League teams provided the local diamond coterie with action galore on Friday night.

Pulaski, the National League leader, flattened Harbor, 17-1, at Pulaski. Renolds, D. Biddle, Hutchison and Grell pounded out triples for the winners. Fair silenced the Harbor bats, giving out but three hits.

WEST SIDERS WIN

The West Side A. C. continued its uphill fight for National League honors by applying the well known whitewash to New Bedford 2-0, at New Bedford.

Knight and Gruenwald were locked in a pitching duel. All told, the twirlers yielded five hits between them. Despite doubles by Rudzik and Lawrence, New Bedford was unable to cross the pay cushion.

Umpires—Gruenwald and Hannon.

PRINCETON AHEAD

Princeton kayoed one of its most bitter rivals, Castlewood, 6-1, at Princeton.

While his mates put together five hits which helped to produce six runs, Bauder checked the Castles, giving up three bingles. Three Castle miscues, aided the winners. J. Newton blasted a triple for Castlewood.

HILLS TAKE FORFEIT

Up on South Hills, the East Side Redskins defeated South Hills, American League leader 9-5. On the record books, however, the tiff goes down as a triumph for the Hillers.

The East Siders inserted ineligible players into their lineup, automatically forfeiting the game. Ferry stopped the leaders, dishing up but six hits.

City League To Meet Tuesday

City League Managers Must Arrange Postponed Games, Quit Using Ineligible Players

An important meeting of the managers and officials of the City baseball league will be held next Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock at St. Josephs parish hall, it was announced by Secretary M. J. Donovan today. Father Peter Schirra will conduct the meeting.

The managers are asked to list their postponed games so that they can be played off. Three teams—Lawrence Indies, Moose and West Pittsburg are battling for the second-half pennant. The Indies have played more games than the other two runnersup.

Rev. Father Schirra said today that the managers must stop this practice of using ineligible players. The teams using ineligible men must forfeit the games in which the ineligible men appear.

At the meeting Tuesday Mr. Donovan will outline to the City league managers the coming Red Cross benefit game between the Rieck Old Timers and City League All-Stars for Saturday, August 24, at Elder's Field. Mr. Donovan is general chairman of the benefit game. Tickets are selling fast and indications point to a banner crowd at Elder's Field for the battle.

FANNINS WIN GAME

The Fannins won an exhibition softball game at Clarion under the lights last night 16 to 8. There were about 3,000 fans at the game. The winning pitcher was Gunther, who was relieved by Lane, and the loser was Silvis. Heavy hitting was done by Severa and Lamorella homering for the fans and Silvis and Johnson hitting homers for the losers.

Elders To Play West Pittsburg

Three Other Games Listed In City League For Sunda, Afternoon

The feature game on the City baseball league card for Sunday afternoon will take the Elders to West Pittsburg to battle Manager Danny DeGenova and his West Pittsburg "Gas House" team. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

The West Pittsburg team still has a chance for the second half pennant in the City league. Manager Danny DeGenova will use either Braky or Tonsetic on the hill, and it will be Hartman for the Elders.

Ryantown vs Law. Indies

The league leading Lawrence Indies will have Wilk or Savage on the hill Sunday opposing the Ryantown team at the Cedar street field. The Moose, hot on the trail of the Indies, will play the Croton A. C. at Croton and will use Hall against Stone or Orelli.

The Red Sox with Minner ready to hurl will play the Slovaks at the Clifton Flats field. The Slovaks will use either Janoski or Balla.

The West Side Tigers and St. Joseph game has been postponed to a later date owing to the no Sunday ball game ruling at Wash High field. A date for the game will be set at the City league meeting next Tuesday at 8:30 o'clock at St. Josephs parish hall.

MOOSE DEFEAT TIGERS 5 TO 1

The Moose Club baseball team remained very much in the running for the second-half flag in the City Baseball league last night at Lehigh Field by winning a pitchers battle 5 to 1 from the West Side Tigers.

Fennick did the Moose hurling and gave four hits, as did Paul Morrison on the mound for the Tigers, but four errors hurt Morrison's nicely pitched ball game.

Grieve had the longest hit of the game a homer, with Mash having a triple and Guinaugh a double.

The win was the tenth against two defeats for the Moose.

POWERFUL CHIMNEY SWIFT

The chimney swift, or swallow, properly speaking, is not a swallow but is related to the night hawk and whippoorwill. No other bird can surpass its powerful flight which sometimes covers 2,000 miles in 24 hours. Ornithologists found a single plane tree in Kentucky, where over 9,000 of these swifts were clinging to its hollow trunk.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Residents of the district north of the city, who complain about a peeper peering into automobiles parked along the highway and frightening people residing in the vicinity, assert they know the car and who owns it (you would know too if we would print it). They are maintaining a lookout and drastic action is threatened by residents, if he is seen again trespassing on their prolerty. This type of amusement, no doubt the peeper thinks this is amusement, shows that something is drastically wrong with the person . . . we suggest that he be taken in by the law and investigated and his identity be made known to the public.

If you want a watch dog . . . it is reported that you can get one at 441 Court street . . . the phone number is 1980 . . . this dog is five months old and part collie and chow. Would make a fine dog for the country.

Today is a big day in Elwood, Indiana . . . Wendell Willkie will accept the responsibility of taking the G.O.P. into the white house. Thousands of good American citizens are gathered at Elwood to see and here this self-made man.
His speech will be short but clean . . . as he would like to keep all his speeches during the campaign . . . and may the elephant trumpet a victory.

Remember that old saying "Forty Million Frenchmen Can't Be Wrong" . . . well we are betting that their new Fascist bosses will see to it they don't vote that way when and if there ever is a chance to vote.

* * *

Tomorrow is Sunday . . . the day when hundreds and hundreds of folks will jump in their cars and start driving . . . many of these will be so-called "Sunday Drivers" . . . drivers who are only out on the road one day each week or maybe one Sunday each month . . . like everything else driving takes practice, that is to be a quick acting driver . . . but you can't tell a Sunday driver he is a poor driver . . . he just won't believe you, the only one he will believe is the hospital doctor . . . Let's hope that you don't end your Sunday trip in this manner . . . drive carefully at all times . . . watch the other fellow.

Stock Market Steadier Today

Steel Backward At Opening, But Steady Up Nicely As Session Progresses

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The stock market displayed a steadier tone today after yesterday's fair-sized reaction. Leaders for the most part held within a mixed and narrow range throughout the abbreviated session.

Steels were backward at the start, but steadied later on the reports of increased production. Bethlehem recovered a half-point decline, U. S. Steel converted a small loss into a minor gain and National moved up a fraction. Crucible lagged.

DuPont ran up more than 2 points and Westinghouse Electric half as much on a few sales. Both had lost more than 3 points in yesterday's sell-off. Procter & Gamble dropped a point.

Elsewhere fractional changes were the rule, with gains and losses equally divided. Many representative issues held at last night's closing levels, and several failed to make an appearance during the two-hour session.

Motors, coppers, aviations and rails were mixed. Oils and utilities displayed a steady tone.

HORSES, BEAUTY—TVA CELEBRATES

At first glance, this picture might not appear to have much to do with Tennessee Valley Authority dams, but it does, at least remotely. Two hundred communities in seven states are planning a celebration, Aug. 30-Sept. 2, to mark the dedication of a chain of TVA dams and "The Great Lakes of the South." The celebration includes a horse show. The picture shows a horse which is shown off to better advantage by the rider on his back, Miss Betty Murphy, one of the celebration models. Now do you get the connection?

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT "SCHEMES"
(Final Edition)

APPRAISAL FEES—Contrary to representations, some unscrupulous promoters have no intention of lending you money on real estate when they ask you for an advance appraisal fee

CEMETERY LOTS—Be wary of memorial park or cemetery lot salesmen who use a speculative or resale appeal, promising to resell your lots at a big profit for you.

DISTANT LAND—Questionable or worthless land is sometimes sold, sight unseen, to unwary investors in distant states. The sales methods are generally flamboyant, including glowing resale promises, exaggerated descriptions and misrepresented facts.

FREE LOTS—Don't be misled by a "free" lot offer. Many real estate promoters offer to award "free" lots in developments simply as a lure to sell land. Various charges and other obstacles are put in your way of getting a "free" lot.

GUARANTEED VALUATIONS—The guaranteed valuation scheme has been largely used to sell oil acreage, oil leases and real estate of questionable value. Investors are furnished with a fancy but tricky certificate wherein an appraisal company guarantees to buy the land if the appraised value is incorrect. One catch prohibits investors from exercising any right of action until ten years have elapsed.

HOUSE REPAIR—Beware of the house repair salesman who endeavors to sign you up for an expensive repair job on misrepresentations that your repaired house will serve as an advertising exhibit and that you will receive large commissions to more than pay for your repairs.

LISTING FEES—If a business broker requests an advance fee to list your business for sale, rooms for rent, etc., get a clear understanding as to just what services he agrees to perform. Unscrupulous promoters charge listing fees and then render no services.

LUNCH AND LECTURE—If you attend a lunch and lecture party put on by the promoter of a real estate development, be careful what you sign. High-pressure promoters have found this an effective way of selling land.
